

NEW YORK, NY – September 13, 2009 – Yesterday Crimson Oak Academy, an innovative online business academy, participated in the first annual Asian MBA Leadership Conference at the Jacob Javits Convention Center in New York City. Over 2,500 present and emerging leaders from the pan-Asian community traveled from the Tri-State area to connect with employers, and launch their careers.

As part of the Career Expo and the only MBA preparatory and leadership organization present, Crimson Oak's exhibition solidified their commitment to the Asian community, both domestically and internationally.

“Crimson Oak embraces a global and inclusive approach to education. Our clients’ leadership development is invariably enriched by this philosophy.

In practice, this concept is represented by our multi-cultural team, the global nature of our coursework and the locations of our programs,” said Kevin Omar Williams, CEO of Crimson Oak Academy. “We were proud to be a part of this history-making conference.”

Other exhibitors included: Cornell University, Yale University, Boston MBA Consortium, IBM and more than 40 other companies and universities.

Crimson Oak Academy also raffled off complimentary professional coaching and resume review sessions. To learn more about Crimson Oak Academy, please email info@CrimsonOakAcademy.com
